

About twp Berlin

twp Berlin is a Berlin-based public affairs consultancy whose services are targeted to the needs of the international financial services industry. As a political consultancy, twp Berlin advises companies seeking support in their understanding of and outreach to the political Berlin and wider Germany. twp Berlin also offers its services to other clients and in relation to Brussels or other constituencies in the EU-27.

twp Berlin has been launched by Dr Ansgar Tietmeyer and Dr Michael Wolgast, both previously partners at Berlin Global Advisors (BGA), as a “friendly spin-off” from BGA, at the beginning of 2023. Both managing partners have a long-standing professional track record in government and public affairs and can rely on a unique network of long-term, top-notch contacts and access to relevant stakeholders.

Ansgar Tietmeyer has for many years been Deutsche Bank’s Head of Public Affairs, and the bank’s representative in Brussels. Michael Wolgast has worked in Government & Public Affairs at Moody’s and as the chief economist for two major German trade associations.

The two partners are working with a team of analysts. In addition, twp Berlin is supported by a group of both international and German senior advisors.
